HIS LITTLE SISTER.

A War Episode Told by an Ex-Confederate Soldier.

Somewhere among the archives of the Confederate Government may be found a document dated about September 3, 1864, wherein Joseph Wilson was sentenced to be shot, and on the back of which is the indorsement, "Approved —Jefferson Davis, President."

You see, my command was then in Virginia, and it was war times of a certainty. We rebels were hard pushed on all sides, having little to eat and less to wear, and it did seem as if a fight had got to be a matter of daily occurrence. Some of us were philosophers enough to endure what we couldn't cure, but the young men, and 'specially the chaps who had been conscripted, were terribly uneasy. They was ready to give it up as a lost cause and start for home.

Well, this feeling, coupled with starvation rations, ragged uniforms, and daily fighting, sent a good many of our boys over to the Union lines as deserters, and this brings about my story.

One of the conscripts in my company was a boy of seventeen named Joe Wilson. All us fellers of thirty or thereabouts felt like a father to him. Aside from his youth he was poor and pale, with no march or fight in him. Bless you! but the idea of little Joey Wilson helping to breast back a Yankee line of battle would have set us all in a roar. He orter been home with his ma, and none of us felt anything but pity for him.

One night, after the desertions had gone on and become so numerous that the big officers had to take notice of 'em, a trap was sot, and lo! our poor leetle Joe fell into it. Yes, sir—nabbed "in the act of deserting to the enemy," and maybe you know what that signifies, 'specially when that enemy isn't cannon-shot away? It was a surprise to us that the lad had plucked up courage 'nuff to make a break, but I reckon he was desperately sick of the Confederacy, and hoped in some manner to get back to his home.

It was determined to make an example of little Joey, and I guess it wasn't over ten days before he was convicted, and sentence approved at Richmond and an order read that he was to be shot at a certain hour. I suppose it was all quite proper and according to army regulations but it must have gone hard with the men on that court-martial to convict him. Had he been guilty of murder I could not have aided to bring in a verdict against him.

Nobody had seemed to know or care whether he had relatives or not, and so our surprise was great to learn, on the day before he was to be shot, that a little sister had arrived in camp to plead for little Joe's life. It was too late. She had been denied by the President, and of course nobody in the field had any authority to stop the execution. She was in camp all day long, and most of us got to see her. If I should tell you that she was the brightest, chippiest, smartest gal of ten I ever saw I would only be telling you the truth. She was exactly like Joe in looks, 'cept a few points handsomer, an' she had his size and walk and ways. Tell you, comrades, when I saw that gal—I believe her name was Nell—breaking down under the bad news and realizing her helplessness. I'd have been willin' to let 'em shoot me in Joe's stead! 'Deed, I would, though I say it so long after. I just wanted to lay my hand on her curly head and say:

"There, there, poor child—don't cry any more! I'm all alone in the world and nobody'll miss me, and I'm going to take Joe's place."

However, that couldn't be done. Joseph Wilson was the deserter, and Joseph Wilson must be shot to death as the penalty.

While the big officers couldn't promise anything, they did grant her a favor. She asked for an hour's visit with her brother, and they gave it to her. We had him shut up in the granary of a barn, and on that very morning I was given six men and told to guard him until he was wanted for execution. It was thus that the gal came to me with a bit of paper on which was written:

"Pass Nellie Wilson to see the prisoner for an hour. See that she carries no weapons."

It was signed all straight, and I could not question her right. I was directed to see that she had no weapons hidden away, but Lord save you! d'ye think I even referred to such a thing? No sir! When she looked up into my face, her eyes full of tears and her heart beating like that of a wounded bird, I says to her:

"Go right in, my dear, and may God bless you for what you have tried to do!"

Well, now, in about twenty minutes after she had passed in, what should enter my head but an idea which lifted my heels clean off the floor. If that gal was as smart as I took her to be, she had a plan to carry out. What? Why, to change places with Joey and send him out in her place. That was the idea, comrades, and for about five minutes I couldn't make up my mind what to do. I figured it out by and by, however.

Under one pretense and another I got all the men but a single guard away from the door, hung the lantern up so as to throw a shadow where I wanted it, and while waiting for the gal to reappear I says to the guard:

"Jim that gal must feel jist awful."

"Sartin she does," he answered.

"And when she comes out she'll be crying."

"Reckon she will."

"Poor thing, but I hope none o' us may seem to gaze at her too stout. She might reckon we had no hearts."

I tell you, the last twenty minutes was a hull week to me, and I had to keep mopping the sweat off my face. At last there was a knock on the door, and I opened it and let her out. I jist felt it in my bones that it was little Joe and so I says:

"Well, child, I'm sorry for you, and please don't think any of us here are to blame."

With that I hurried her out as fast as I could, and then had to sit down for the weakness in my knees.

Next morning—what! Jist as I told you. When they opened the door to lead Joe to his death they discovered his sister in his place, and she was jist cute 'nuff to smile at 'em at that. Joey had been gone for hours, and was safe inside the Yankee lines.

Shoot her? Oh, no! They had to let her go, and it was such a smart trick that the big officers didn't want it talked about too much. Me? Well, they did start to do something or other, but Grant made a move jist in the nick of time to bust up all proceedings, and nothing further was ever done. Nobody thought I had any knowledge of the plot, but they hankered for a victim, and might have put me in a serious plight but for having other business on hand.—Detroit Free Press.

The Boy that was Buried.

A Madrid (Spain) letter tells this story of the cholera epidemic: In Ulea, Murcia, there was attacked a man of over middle age, the father of a family, and also his little boy, aged 11, called Jose Gomez. The father died, and a few days after, at 6 in the afternoon, the boy died also, and was carried immediately to the churchyard, at the same time when the gravedigger was finishing his day's toil. He viewed the last arrival, but although the grave was almost filled up he threw in the dead body and went away. Upon the next morning, as he opened the cemetery gate, the first thing he saw was Jose Gomez, almost naked, amusing himself.

'Hullo!' exclaimed the astonished gravedigger, 'who took you out of that?' 'Nobody,' replied the boy cheerfully, 'I came out myself.' 'Bueno (good); come here, I wish to speak to you.' El chico [the little one], believing that he was to be treated to another burial, began to run, and did not stop until he reached his mother's cottage, whom he frightened out of her wits, and she believed he had come from the other world. 'Where is your father?' was the first question put by the poor woman. 'Oh,' he stayed there; but give me something to eat, mother, for I am very hungry.' The mother broke out into cries and lamentations, and the neighbors crowded in and tried to surround the chico, who fled and endeavored to hide herself, believing firmly those attempts were promonitory of another funeral. In the end he was caught and put to bed, all the time protesting that his one malady was hunger. So they gave him his breakfast, and now he is the pride of the village as he runs about stoning dogs, which, it seems, was his favorite recreption before he was attacked by cholera. The final touch in the story is a striking instance of the truth of what the poet sang: "They change their sky, not their dispositions, who go across the seas.'

She Took the Hint.

At home stations the private soldiers washing is usually done by the married soldiers' wives, who are expected to sew on missing buttons and do repairs for which a small sum is deducted from the private's pay.

Pat McGinnis had a good deal of trouble with his laundress. Sunday after Sunday had his shirt come back with the neck button off or else hanging by a thread. He had spoken to her on the subject, and she had promised to see to it, but still the button was not on properly.

He got out of patience on Sunday, when the missing button had made him late for parade and exclaimed:

"Bother the woman. I'll see if I can't give her a hint this time anyhow."

He then took the lid of a tin blacking box about three inches in diameter, drilled two holes in it with a fork and sewed it on the neck of the shirt that was next to be washed. When his washing came back he found she had taken the hint. She had made a button-hole to fit it.

She Was a Good Wife.

Jones was well aware that his wife was in the habit of rifling his pockets when he was asleep, but like a wise man, he kept silent on the subject. One night, however, he awoke and caught her in the act.

"Ha!" he exclaimed, "what are you doing, my dear?"

The lady started, her cheeks flushed, the pantaloons dropped from her grasp, and she was about to make a full confession when a bright idea entered her head. Recovering her composure, she said:

"I was looking to see whether your pantaloons needed any buttons."

"They do, they do, my dear," he exclaimed, springing from bed, "needed 'em for weeks, months, and I wondered why you didn't sew 'em on; but I waited, for I was sure you would get to it some time and how kind of you to get out of bed at this time of night to attend to 'em. Say what you will, there's nothing in the world like a good wife. Let me turn up the gas a little, so's you'll have all the light you want in sewing 'em on. Got your needle and thread and the buttons? No? Well, tell me where they are and I'll get them for you."

Mrs. Jones proceeded to sew on the buttons, while her husband sat on the side of the bed and encouraged her with words of praise for her wifely care and thought for his comfort, occasionally remarking that go where he would he would always say there was nothing in the world like a good wife.

Then he went to the wardrobe and brought out several pairs of trousers, a coat, two or three old vests, and a number of shirts, from all of which buttons were missing, and cheerily observed:

"While we're at it we'll make a night of it."

Two hours later, when Mrs. Jones, with a weary sigh, removed the thimble from her finger, Mr. Jones patted her on the cheek and said:

"I say it again, my dear, say it again, that wherever I go I will make it known, proclaim it from the housetops, shout it in the highways and byways, that a wife who gets up in the middle of the night to sew buttons on her husband's clothes is a priceless treasure, a crown to that husband and an ornament to her sex."

Then Mr. Jones, chuckling to himself, lay calmly down and slept the sleep of the just.—Detroit Free Press.

The Thistle and the Cornstalk.

A Canada Thistle which had taken root in a farmer's garden one day saw a blade of corn peeping out of the ground, and in a tone of ridicule called out:

"What a little one for a cent! It's a wonder you have the cheek to force yourself into my company.

The blade continued to grow day by day, and it was of such bright color and looked so thrifty that the thistle finally called to the farmer and said:

"Really, but I can't put up with such impudence, and I hope you will remove that corn-stalk at once."

"And who are you?" queried the farmer, having for the first time noticed the thistle.

"Me? Why, I'm the biggest and handsomest Canada thistle in the business. My genealogy carries me back to king——"

"Umph!" interrupted the farmer.

"One grain of corn is of more value than a hundred thistles. Come out of that by the roots!"

MORAL:—The thief who abuses the law always gives himself away.—Detroit Free Press.

A Kind Voice.

There is no power of love so hard to get and keep, says Elihu Buritt, as a kind voice. A kind hand is deaf and dumb. It may be rough in flesh and blood, yet do the work of a soft heart and do it with a soft touch. But there is no one thing that love so much needs as a sweet voice to tell what it means and feels and it is hard to get and keep it in the right tone. One must start in youth, and be on the watch night and day, at work and play, to get and keep a voice that sounds, that shall speak at all times the thoughts of a kind heart. But this is the time when a sharp voice is apt to be got. You often hear boys and girls say words at play with a sharp, quick tone, as if it were the snap of a whip. When one of them gets vexed, you hear a voice that sounds as if it were made up a snarl, a whine, and a bark. It is often in mirth that one gets a voice or a tone that is sharp, and sticks to him through life, and stirs up ill will and grief, and falls like a drop of gall on the sweet joys of home. Watch it day by day, as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is to the heart what light is to the eye. It is light that sings as well as shines. Train it to sweet tones now, and it will keep in tone through life.

HOW GREELY WAS SOLD.

A Story Told By the Alleged Discoverer of Pike's Peak.

Green Russell, of Lumpkin County, Georgia, went to California in the early days of the gold excitement of that country, made a handsome fortune, returned to Georgia, bought the big Savannah plantation on the Etowah River, in now Dawson County, and quietly retired to his farm, but when Kansas was opened to settlers his restless mind carried him out there. He entered a large body of land on the Big Blue River, from which point he explored the Territory of Kansas and reached the Rocky Mountanis, taking with him tools to prospect for gold.

In going to the mountains he followed up the Arkansas River to its source at the foot of Pike's Peak, then turning north across the ridge dividing the waters of the Arkansas and Platte Rivers he struck Cherry Creek, about fifty miles west of now Denver City. Here with his test pan, he found gold from the drifted sand. He followed the creek to where it emptied into the South Platte River, and there established headquarters at what is now Denver City, from which point he prospected the country, finding gold almost any where. He had with him two brothers and another man. This was in the summer of 1858. In the fall he left his brothers and the other man and returned to Georgia. He says:

"Horace Greely was then making his famous trip across the continent, and he took in Pike's Peak. I remember seeing him. When the six-horse stage coach drove up he got out with a slouched hat and moccasin slippers on, which he had gotten from the Indians. I talked with him a little as he left the stage. That night he made a speech to the miners and advocated the forming of a Territorial Government and calling it Colorado. In a day or two Greeley went up into the Gregory diggings, and some sharpers had set a trap for him; they had opened there a mine and had collected a quantity of gold dust, had salted the pit and all got sick. When Greeley got there they told him what a fine mine they had opened, and how fortune had turned against them and they were not able to work it. Greeley tested their mines, found gold in abundance, and finally struck a trade and paid the mines (or claim). Of course, before Greeley worked out the salted gold they were gone.

What Sort.

What sort of a morality is that which satisfies a man in the nonpayment of a debt as long as his creditor refrain from "dunning?"

What sort of morality is that which satisfies itself in the nonpayment of a debt because it is a small amount—a trifle?

What sort of morality is that which calls the attention of the creditor to an overcharge, but is silent about an undercharge?

What sort of morality is that which seeks to evade meeting his creditor lest he should be more plainly reminded of his indebtedness?

What sort of morality is that which satisfies itself in the nonpayment of a debt becauee the creditor is presumed by the debtor not to need what the debt calls for?

What sort of morality is that which gets offended when asked to pay a debt which the debtor promised to pay long before the time of dunning?

What sort of morality is that which ignores moral obligation as to a debt, and pays only when the civil law compels?

What sort of morality is that which lightens the obligation to pay a just debt in proportion to the length of time since it was contracted?

In short, what sort of morality is that which disregards the command, "Thou shalt not steal?"

DeKaggs—There is a most peculiar odor judge, that issues from a crevice in the bank near my house. I think it is natural gas.

Judge—Why don't you test it?

DeKaggs—I don't know of any convincing test.

Judge—Touch a lighted match to the crevice.

DeKaggs—But it might explode and blow me up.

Judge—Well, great Scott! do you want any more convincing proof than that?

Fighting off Death.

Conductor Frazer, of the International and Great Northern Railroad, tried to fight off death a few hours in order that he might see his wife once more. He had been shot by a tramp and had been taken to Tyler, Texas, in a dying condition.

"Help me fight back this cruel death boys, until my wife gets here," said the dying man cheerily.

The doctor had already told him he could live but a few hours. With a calm courage he heard the verdict and called all of his wonderful force to his aid in the struggle to live till his wife arrived.

"Tell me exciting stories," he said to the boys around his bed "for I must make this run till she comes".

And the boys did laugh and tell big stories, poor fellows, when their stout hearts were filled with sad regret. The hours sped rapidly by; the merry voice of the conductor grew fainter and fainter, but his courage never faltered.

A telegram from his wife in answer to one sent to her some hours before, was brought into the room and read. She was coming on a special train; the road was cleared for her passage and with lightening speed her train was annihilating. What a race! A young woman in the full flush of love and a life pitted against the king of terrors. The news nerved Frazer for a moment and his efforts to keep up were renewed. A little later another telegram arrived.

"Old boy," whispered a brakeman, "she will be here in an hour."

"Turn me over, boys," he said.

It was done. He whispered to an attendant:

"Charlie, I—I cannot run on this schedule. Good-bye!"

He was dead.

Never Missed.

How a Bright Operator watched the Variable Wind.

"The prairies of the west are a great place for wind," said a telegraph operator. I used to have a station out in Nebraska, right out on the open prairie, and the way the wind blowed there was a caution. But it was a lucky wind for me. At a station about thirteen miles west my girl lived, and as I had no Sunday trains or business of any kind I used to go up there and stay over Sunday. But a livery horse from Saturday night to Monday morning cost me too much money, and so I rigged up a sail on an old tie-car. All I had to do Saturday night was to hoist my sail, push that tie-car out on the main track and in less than an hour I was at my journey's end. For more than a year I went to see my girl every Saturday night by means of that sail-car. Pretty sleek, wasn't it?"

"Yes, pretty sleek. But do you mean to say that the wind blowed in the same direction every Saturday night during all that time?"

"Of course I don't."

"Well, how did you manage it those nights when it blew in the other direction?"

"Easy enough. I had another girl at a station fifteen miles east."

According to the last United States census there are 563 establishments in this country devoted to the proprietary medicine business, employing 4,015 operatives, with an aggregate investment of capital amounting to $10,520,000, and the annual product is valued at $14,682,000. The New York State leads all others with an invested capital of $3,512,430, which is about one-third of the entire country's investment. Pennsylvania comes next and Missouri ranks third in invested capital, followed respectively by Ohio and Massachusetts. In the amounts of annual product New York again stands first, followed in order by Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, the other States standing about even. A fair calculation is that about twenty-five American proprietary medicines have at present a very large sale in England.

A Mighty Sentence.

The opening sentence of the Bible, "In the beginning God created the Heaven and the earth," contains five great universal terms, and speaks of many boundless totalities—God, Heaven, earth, creation and the beginning. It is, perhaps, the most weighty sentence ever uttered, having the most gigantic members. In its comprehensive sweep it takes in all past time, all conceivable space, all known things, all power and intelligence, and the most comprehensive act of that intelligence and power. This sentence is a declaration on nearly all the great problems now exercising scientists and philosophers.

A TOO WILLING WITNESS

The Confidence Man Who Was Set Hard Upon by a Gentlemanly Stranger.

It happened in the neighborhood of Castle Garden. A tall man, attired in the prevailing style of Podunk, met a very pleasant gentleman who was extremely solicitous regarding his comfort. By degrees he seemed to win the confidence of the tall man, who after much entreaty consented to accompany him to a neighboring bar-room.

"You say you have traveled out West," observed the tall man.

"Yes, indeed," responded the pleasant gentleman.

"Did you ever see a bar-room fight in Idaho?"

"Did I?" responded the gentleman as he leaned back in his chair and put on the look of an experienced cut throat.

"Well, once;" observed the tall man, "I was detained in Tin Cup, which I may remark is one of the best camps in the Territory, and of course there was nothing for me to do but sit around the bar-room. I was kept there four or five days. The last day I was there a stranger about your size came in the place and offered to play a game of poker with the boys for a night's lodging. He had just fifty cents with him and it cost a dollar to sleep in Tin Cup when you took your clothes off. Well he found lots of the boys ready and willing. They played four or five hands, when the stranger, who had accumulated five dollars, opened a jack pot for five dollars. They all came in. He had four aces and a king. Some other man had four kings and an ace, and this led to a little argument. The stranger grabbed the stakes and leaned up against the wall until everybody else was out of range, and we all gave him the money by mutual consent. We had the funeral of the other man the next day."

"Just as I was about to say," interrupted the gentlemanly man.

"You?"

"Yes, me. So you saw that fight?"

"Eh?" responded the tall man, with a look of surprise on his face.

"You were there at that fight?"

"Wasn't that what I said?"

"Well, I am delighted to meet you. I—I—am the stranger. I have longed for a witness of that fight for years. Shake."

They shook.

About three hours afterwards when a policeman appeared in that locality he noticed a small, gentlemanly-looking man limping asross the Battery as if he had sat down on something warm, and a tall man leaning against a lamp-post contemplating the scene with evident satisfaction.

"Merely a little friendly argument," said the tall man in explanation. "You see he knew my father in Podunk. He used to go to school with my sister and was engaged to my cousin. I began to loose confidence in him when he told me this as I don't live in Podunk, haven't any sisters and my only cousin is a man. But when he saw a fight I was lying about and tried to borrow fifty dollars of me on the strength of it I felt moved to expostulate with him. That was all. Good-night."

In the South.

Its Industries Striving to Outstrip Northern Ones.

But for the industrial activity in the south much more causes for complaint would exist in northern industrial centres. A vast amount of capital is finding employment in southern states. Mills, factories, saw-mills and shops of all kinds are springing up. The capital engaged ranges from $1000 to $100,000. Among the enterprises are saw and planing mills and furniture factories. New flouring mills are going up. Fruit evaporating concerns, cotton-seed oil mills, ice factories and machine shops are among some of the recently undertaken enterprises, large and small are springing up, to say nothing of house and store building. In fact, a spirit of industrial enterprise seems to have broken loose in the south, which will go far to help us tide over what would other wise be a very serious depression.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

FOR STATE TREASURER,
CONRAD B. DAY,
OF PHILADELPHIA.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET.

For Jury Commissioner—JOHN ROAN.
For Coroner—Dr. H. K. HOY.

BRING OUT THE VOTE! Democrats it is your grave duty in next Tuesday's election to be true to your past record and discipline. Do not shirk this duty but be at your posts, bound to lend your help in gaining the almost assured victory over the grasping and corrupt candidate of the republican party. Keep in view the interest and the importance of this battle of the ballots and by your votes rescue the old Keystone from the sad fate of having Matthew S. Quay, a political boss and ringster, a man with a black record, a man who is charged with complicity in defeating the sentence of the Court in the Kemble bribery case, take the responsible office of Pennsylvania's state treasury. We earnestly appeal to you to assist in electing our eminenty fit and capable candidate Conrad B. Day. Awake to the responsibility resting up on you in choosing the best man and thereby render the best service to the commonwealth. Mr. Day's candidacy is endorsed by a united democracy and acceded to by a great number of republicans for the simple reason that he is an honest business man, free from all rings, hostile to all monopolies and sure to discharge the duties of office with credit to himself and his constituents. Such is the situation and no right-thinking voter should hesitate a moment to decide which it shall be—Day or Quay. Again we say, work and vote for DAY.

THE Independent Republican Committee of One Hundred, in Philadelphia, favoring reform, and going against Quay, also declare themselves opposed to Rowan, the republican candidate for sheriff and advise all voters, irrespective of party, to vote for the democratic candidate, if they would have a conscientous man in the sheriff's office. Trouble in city and state.

ASSISTANT Postmaster General, Hon Malcolm Hay, departed this life at Allegheny City, on Tuesday, October 20th, having been a sufferer from consumption for some time.

CIVIL Service Commissioner Thoman, from Ohio, resigned last Saturday and the resignation was accepted.

Conkling Will Not Take the Stump.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—In conversation with an old friend yesterday Mr. Conkling said, in referring to the statement that he was to take the stump for Davenport: "A man would, if he has sense enough, know that no word of mine could be uttered to encourage the honest and upright people of the State of New York in electing him to a post of honor second only to that of the Chief Executive of the nation. No person in his sense would or could make such a demand of me for self-stultification, and no man, friend or foe, has yet had the temerity to offer such an insult to me."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28, 1885.

It cannot be many years before Congress will demand more comfortable and more commodious quarters in which to do the law making for this great nation. In sauntering through the capitol yesterday I went into the House and Senate chamber, only to find them both depleted of every article of furniture, carpets, desks, spittoons and all. These two rooms are about as dreary and desolate rooms for public use as one can imagine. To think of 325 men cooped and for nine months at a time in a room which, without the galleries, is not more than 80 feet square, one may not inquire the reason for the Congressional mortality that follows the long session every second year. In winter these chambers are kept at what is supposed to be an equable tempera ture, but it is a quality of heat that is enervating as well as nauseating. Not until Congress provides halls for its own use distinctively and apart from all other Governmental surroundings, will there be a check to the fearful death rate that now prevails.

With thet enand half millions of cart wheel dollars brought hither by the Swatara from New Orleans the other day, there are now 578 tons of silver coin in the national treasury against five and a half tons of gold, including bricks. With this vast weight of silver coin running the vaults over until every available inch of space is occupied, the mints are adding two millions of the same unhandy and unhandsome money every month in the year, in compliance with a stupid piece of legislation that passed Congress in the interest of the silver-kings of Nevada and Colorado.

When this money is counted it occupies the time of thirty expert counters just three weeks. The popular impression is that the dollars are taken up one by one and thrown into a pile while the count is on, but this is a delusion, pure and simple, for were this the case the treasurer of one administration who must count the monies turned over to his successor, would be able to hold his office through at least two entire administrations before he could be compelled to disgorge. Therefore the scales are resorted to, the money being put into bags, with an uniform weight in each by which the whole process of counting occupied only a matter of two or three weeks.

Miscellaneous News.

Riel Must Hang on November 10th.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Privy Council has dismissed the appeal of Louis Riel, the leader of the half-breed insurrection in Canada, against the sentence of death passed upon him by the Canada Courts and he will hang on November 10th.

Watching and Praying Day and Night.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 26.—All Evangelical denominations are holding day and night revival services in nearly all the churches in Pittsburg and Allegheny. The movement is an outgrowth of the Moody and Sankey meetings last Spring.

LABORERS RUN DOWN BY A TRAIN.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 26.—During a heavy fog this morning an East bound freight train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad dashed into a gang of section-hands at South Bethlehem. At the time a coal train was passing on the opposite track and its noise prevented the men from hearing the approaching train. Lawrence Doyle was struck on the head and died within an hour. Another man was slightly injured. The other men threw themselves from the track and escaped injury. Doyle was aged 40 years, and unmarried

Serious Railroad Accident.

A collision occurred on Tuesday evening, Oct. 20th, at about 6:30 o'clock, between two passenger trains on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, about two miles south of Williamsport. Two men were killed and several seriously injured. The killed were Arthur M. Middlekaat, express messenger, of Williamsport, who was on the Fast Line west, and Eugene Thorne, of Harrisburg, fireman on the engine of the east-bound train.

Daniel Roat, engineer of Fast Line, and Harry Welcomer, engineer of the accommodation train, were seriously hurt and are in the hospital. One of the passengers, James A. Scott, of Trenton, agent for the Standard Rubber Company, Boston, had his left ear split open by being thrown against the stove. His injuries are not serious. The accident was caused by the failure of the engineer of the east bound train to observe the red danger light displayed in the signal tower. He was doubtless confused by the blinding rain storm which prevailed at the time.

AN EXPLOSION OF GAS.

Five Men Dead and Eleven Almost Certain to Die.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 21.—A terrific explosion of gas took place in the number 2 slope of the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company at Plymouth this morning, by which fifteen men may loose their lives. The greatest excitement prevailed at the place as soon as the accident became known, as the slope was full of men and boys, fathers, brothers, sons and husbands, and the shaft being one of the largest worked by the Delaware and Hudson Company. The accident was caused by a miner who entered an abandoned portion of the slope, which was marked dangerous, with a naked lamp upon his head, thereby firing the gas and causing a terrific explosion.

The miner whose carelessness fired the gas that caused the fatal explosion was Peter Solintzky. There were two explosions. The first was soon followed by another, which swept everything before it, and sent a flame of fire up the slope and above the fan house, knocked the shingles and timbers from the breaker 400 feet above the solid earth. Solintzky was not killed, but was removed from the slope with only his boots on, and no hair on his head. Otherwise he was uninjured. The scene that ensued was terrible. The victims of the disaster lay in every direction. Dennis Titus was instantly killed, and when found lay 200 feet from where he stood at the time of the explosion. When the gas ignited all the men in the slope were violently thrown to the ground or against the cars or ribs of the gangways. The lights on their heads were extinguished by the shock of the second explosion, and all were in confusion making their way through the flames, and managing with great difficulty to reach a place of safety. The following is a list of the dead and injured:

Dennis Titus, dead. Anthony Spinnette, John Livtskey, Alex. Love, John Kirst, John Woods, David Bryans, Thos. Howard, Thos. McDermott, John Colby, David Grimes, Jos. Thomas, Frank Lamareaux, Thos. Collins and Edward Jones, wounded.

The four last named are in a terribly bad condition and cannot survive. The others are horribly burned and breathed flames to such an extent that their injuries are also considered fatal. The shaft at which the explosion took place is one of the largest operated by the Delaware and Hudson Company, the average daily hoist of coal being from 350 to 400 car loads.

LATER—The worst anticipations of the physicians who are attending to the wounded in the mine explosion to-day are being realized. Thomas Collins, miner, and Anthony Spinnette and John Livitskey, Polish laborers, have died, making four deaths thus far. Nearly all the others of the injured will doubtless die.

—Deininger's Ready Reference Tax Receipt Book is growing in public favor. Customers from a distance are beginning to call for it. It is an admitted necessity for every tax-payer who does his business in a practical manner. It it arranged to last for ten years and sells at the low price of 40 cents. Call and see it at the JOURNAL Store. tf

Every Farm an Experimental Station.

The best analysis of any fertilizer is in the farmer's own hands. Soil tests are reliable tests to determine the value of any manure. An analysis is only an intelligent suggestion, but actual trial by the farmer proves conclusively whether a fertilizer will give good crops or not. For six years our $25 Phosphate has stood severe field tests. The best results have been obtained by intelligent farmers who use it season after season in preference to any other brand. If you have not used it yet, we hope you will do so this season.

—Rev. C. F. Deininger will fill the pulpit in the M. E. church at this place next Sunday evening, Rev.. Heckman being absent from home.

—The primary school was closed yesterday, the teacher, Mr. Limbert, having been to Madisonburg to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

—Readings and Recitations and Dissolving Views in the school house tonight. A fine entertainment by H. M. Clark. Admission, 10 cents.

—The brickmakers are busy turning out pressed brick by the thousands in the western part of Main street. The work is done by steam process.

—Mr. Goetz, the solicitor of the Bellefonte Republican, and a very sociable gentleman, favored our office with a pleasant call yesterday morning.

—USE Prof. Wright's Indian Vegetable Wafers for Liver, Kidney, Stomach and Worms. Sold by all dealers. Price 25cts, 50cts, and $1.00 per box.

—Stated by H. B. Cochran, druggist Lancaster, Pa.: "Have guaranteed over 3000 bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia, sour stomach, bilious attacks, liver and kidney troubles."

—Ladies' Cloth for dresses in all colors at Spigelmyer's.

—No stay-at-home business next Tuesday, and it will be all the better for our ticket. Democrats will please bear this in mind.

—We had several very heavy frosts last and this week, which helped to strip the trees and vines of their leaves and warned us of the approach of winter.

NOTICE.—The new Process Roller Flour, manufactured by J. B. Fisher, Penn Hall, is for sale at D. S. Kauffman & Co's new store, Main street Millheim, Pa.

LOST.—Mrs. John Hall, of North street, lost a shawl the other Sunday, somewhere near Peter's planning mill. The finder is requested to return the same to its owner.

—Mr. C. K. Sober, of Sober's P. O., Gregg township, will take a trip to Virginia next week with a double purpose—to look up business interests and take a hunt for game.

—Michael F. Hess, administrator of the estate of Sarah Hess, late of Haines township, dec'd. will sell the personal property of the decedent, on Saturday, Nov. 14th. See bills.

—An unusual amount of traffic is reported on this railroad and the general desire is to have passenger and freight trains run seperately, in order to avoid the many delays and wrecks.

—The history of Downs' Elixir is identified with the history of New England for the last fifty years. It cures cough and colds. For sale by J. Spigelmyer and D S. Kauffman & Co.

—H. Y. Stitzer and J. C. Meyer, Esqs., of Bellefonte, passed through town last Thursday, on their way to Aaronsburg. Mr. Meyer gave the JOURNAL a pleasant call on Saturday.

—Many of our young ladies are already studying out suitable Christmas gifts. Do not forget that the Journal store can help you out of many perplexities connected with that kind of work.

—Our young friend, Mr. Alvin Harter, of Penns Creek, whose marriage notice appears in this issue appears to be the first gentleman around here who availed himself of the new marriage license system.

Costiveness is the cause of the intolerable "bad breath" of multitudes. Bitters remove the cause and prevents the evil, and cost only 25 cents.

For sale by J. Spigelmyer and D. S. Kauffman & Co.

—John Kerstetter, Jr., shot a chickenhawk, that was perched on a fence on Penn street, last Monday evening, about dusk. It is dangerous for hawks to set around on fences, when John and his trusty gun are about.

—The salvation army were at Lock Haven with cornet and tambourine, looking around for "material to be saved." They found two subjects to work on persons and felt good over the wonderful (!) success they had achieved.

—A cabbage head of unusual size was brought to this office the other day. It was grown by Mrs. Wm. Kerstetter, near town and is large enough to make several mess for a good-sized family. It is also an excellent kind of cabbage.

—The Salutary Effects of Simmons Liver Regulator upon the nervous system, prostrated by long suffering with dyspepsia, constipation and kindred diseases, is without a precedent. Its tonic, cathartic and acterative effects are truly wonderful.

—The poles intended for the telephone wire between this point and Coburn, and which were distributed along the line the other day, do not look very well. They are woefully crooked and look very old and weather-beaten. That part of the enterprise will not be fancied by our town people.

—An exchange says that the finest quality of chewing gum is made out of old rubber boots and gossamers. If that is so, we would like to know of what the inferior and cheap kinds of chewing gum are manufactured, and how the chewers like the idea of it.

—A fine constitution may be broken and ruiend by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills to correct the evil, and restore the system to natural, regular, and healthy action.

—A crowd of little girls paid their respects to Bessie Mingle, Dr. D. H. Mingle's oldest daughter, at that gentleman's residence on Main street, it being the farewell of Bessie. Many were the little gifts she received on that occasion and great was the enjoyment of the little folks during the evening.

—Rev. Wasson, pastor of the U. B. church at this place called on us on Tuesday evening. He is a right pleasant minister, who seems to possess an ample amount of intelligence and education to be a successful preacher of God's word. He will have services next Sunday evening.

—The first two copies of "The Fountain," the new weekly paper spoken of in our last issue, are on our table. At its head appears the name of E. T. Tuten, editor of the Bellefonte Republican, as its publisher, and upon closer examination we find it to be a very interesting and entertaining sheet, just the paper to while away the quiet hours of a Sunday. Its fifty-six columns contain a fine variety of reading matter, intended and suitable for the family circle. We wish this bright fountain of literature a successful future.

—D. W. Zeigler's new residence on Penn street received its first coat of plastering last week. We understand that part of the building will be used as an ice-cream and oyster saloon, which will formally be opened sometime during the holidays. The well-planned arrangement of the building and its central location will make it a popular resort for persons of epicurean tastes.

A CURE AT LAST.—Ely's Cream Balm goes more directly than any other catarrh remedy to the seat of the disease, and has resulted in more cures here than all others.—Wilkesbarre, Pa., Leader.

MY SON, aged nine years, was afflicted with catarrh, the use of Ely's Cream Balm effected a complete cure.—W. E. Hamman, Druggist, Easton, Pa. 40-4t

—Mr. Joseph Shafer, of Nittany Hall, gave us a call on Tuesday, just long enough to see that he is all right on the subscription book and to tell us that he was a passanger on one of the trains which were wrecked on the P. and E. railroad a few miles from Williamsport, and that he received a severe bump in the catastrophe.

—Mr. John Limbert, an old and well-known citizen of Madisonburg, died last Monday morning, aged 77 years. Deceased was only sick since Friday, having been working out in the cornfield the greater part of last week. It is supposed that he contracted a severe cold in his bowels which ultimated in his death. The funeral took place yesterday forenoon, Rev. N. J. Miller officiating.

—Mr. Joshua A. Israel, of Philadelphia, who has been representing the Wholesale Clothing House of Jos. Nelter & Co., for the last twelve years, registered at the Musser House on Monday. Mr. Israel is one of the best salesmen on the road, and expects to enter the above firm as a member after the first of January. He is one of those genial and wholesouled fellows, whom it is always a pleasure to meet.

—Ministers, aldermen and others authorized to perform the marriage ceremony in this state should bear in mind one section of the new marriage law requiring that the returns be made by them to the Register and Recorder from whom the license taken, in thirty days after the marriage has been performed. The return need not necessarily be made in person; it can be sent by mail or otherwise, only so it reaches the Register and Recorder, and is correctly made out.

—The iron fence for the new cemetery, west of town, arrived on Tuesday, and was lifted yesterday and hauled to the ground. It was manufactured at Kenton, Ohio, and when in place will make a stately appearence.

In this connection we are glad to state that the right man was unanimously elected by the board as superintendent of Fairview Cemetery, to wit: Chief Burgess A. C. Musser. Mr. Musser, by virtue of his trade, has considerable experience about graveyard business, and besides that, is a man of clear judgment and enterprising push. Certainly the best choice that could be made.

—On Friday evening, between seven and eight o'clock, the family of Mr. Adams, of North street, were agreeably surprised by a number of friends who had gathered to have a pound party and to donate a large quantity of the necessaries of life as a token of their sympathy and esteem for the family. The contributions were liberal and are valued at about $24. Mr. Adams and wife feel exceedingly grateful toward the many donors.

Such acts of kindness never come amiss and will ever be a source of blessing to the giver as well as to the recipient, and they are to be encouraged heartily.

—THE PREMIUM ENGRAVING issued by "Peterson's Magazine," for 1886, is of rare excellence and beauty. It is a first-class line-and-stipple engraving, executed in the highest style of art. The artists are Illman Brothers, and they have engraved it—size, 21 inches by 27—for "Peterson's Magazine," in their best and most brilliant manner. The picture is called "The Angel of Paradise," and is a companion to the "Not Lost, But Gone Before," published by "Peterson's Magazine" some years ago, and which was so popular. In artistic merit, it is, we think, one of the finest "Peterson" has ever issued, and will go to every mother's heart, especially if she has lost one of her "darlings." Another of the premiums is the "Forget-Me-Not," an illustrated album, a book of very great beauty. Another is an extra copy of the magazine etc., etc. You can get any of them, gratis, by raising a club for "Peterson" for 1886. This is a rare chance. Specimens of the magazine sent gratis, with full particulars, to those wishing to get up clubs, if written for. Address CHAS. J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Phila.

—DRUGGISTS all report a rapid and steadily increasing demand for McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powder. There is no secret or trick about their popularity. It is solely because people have become convinced through trial or hearing their neighbors say that they are the best and easiest to take vermifuge ever produced. Nasty, sickening, old-fashioned wormseed syrups won't sell. People demand McDonald's Celebrated Worm powders, and won't have anything else, hence their sales are greater than all the other vermifuges combined. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

DEDICATION AT AARONSBURG.—According to the previous announcement the dedicatory services of the Reformed church at Aaronsburg began on Wednesday evening with an able sermon by Rev. D. M. Wolf. The weather having been very inclement the attendance was small. On Thursday evening Rev. DeLong, of Bellefonte, favored a larger audience with a fine discourse on of pious parents, pointing to the godly father and mother of the prophet Samuel as examples. On Friday evening Rev. N. J. Miller, of Rebersburg filled the pulpit very efficiently.

The interest in Saturday evening's services was materially increased by the presence of Dr. Dubbs, of Lancaster, and Rev. S. K. Evans, of Pottstown. The latter is a native of this valley, being a son of James G. Evans, of Gregg township. His eloquent sermon on that evening gave ample proof that he is a thorough and clear minded theologian and peculiarly adapted for the pulpit. His large audience highly appreciated and enjoyed his address.

On Sunday morning at fifteen minutes before ten o'clock the consecratory services proper were opened with a fine and well-rendered anthem, specially composed for this occasion by Hon. J. G. Meyer, of Aaronsburg. Dr. Dubbs preached a deep sermon, well spiced with historical points, directly bearing on the subject discussed. He was followed by Rev. Evans in an equally instuctive sermon in the German language. The pure and correct language used by that gentleman gave evidence of the complete education which he obtained by a theological course of several years in the Vaterland. After these fine sermons, which were listened to with greatest attention by a crowded house, the work of raising the necessary funds to liquidate the debt still resting on the church was proceeded with. The greater part of the required sum was procured in subcriptions, but as the services had already consumed over three hours, it was thought advisable to postpone the dedication ceremonies until evening.

Rev. Dubbs again treated his many hearers to an excellent sermon on Sunday evening, after the church was formally consecrated to the worship of God.

The children's meeting in the afternoon was briefly addressed by the following ministers: Rev. Evans, Rev. Wolf, Rev. Hengst.

There wil be preaching every evening this week. Communion services next Sunday forenoon.

SMITH TOWN.

The schools of Penn township commenced on Monday.

W. F. Smith claims to have the largest apple in the section. It measures 13 inches in circumference. He also must have credit for having the largest crop of pumpkins—50 loads.

Jerry Kern was home on business last Saturday.

Miss Ella Swartz, W. E. Smith and Milton Bright spent Sunday with friends at this place.

Last week Prof. Baney's big steam horse came along here on its annual trip and made some of us work like good fellows, especially behind the straw carrier. On Thursday, a wood saw was run with the steamer, and fifteen cords of Squire Duck's wood were cut up in 4½ hours.

Some scamps took Frank Bresslers wagon box off and pitched it over the fence last Friday night.

John Weaver was to Belltonte last week. Heard he was up for a license. Is it so John?

A would be sharper came to Milton Kern the other day to claim the pocket book he had found a few weeks ago.

JUMBO.

—OCTOBER is a good month for merchant to examine their stock of Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine and include a winter's supply in their next order. The people have found out by experience that it can be relied on in all cases of croup, whooping-cough, colds, and lung troubles of any nature, and will have it. A good article draws trade while worthless preparations drive it away. It should be a source of satisfaction to a dealer as well, to know he is giving good honest value for money received. AARONSBURG.

S. H. Diehl left on Monday morning for Montrose, Col.

Andy Musser, son of J. H. Musser has gone to Millersyille, Pa., to attend the State Normal.

Rev. M. L. Deitzler & wife have gone to Harrisburg to visit the lady's parents, and will be gone all week.

Abs. Musser and wife are expected to return from their Western trip at the close of this week. They are now in Akron, O.

The Reformed choir during the dedicatory services sang some very excellent anthems, due in part to its assistance of the cornet music rendered by Messrs. Bumiller, Harter and Meyer.

Mr. Morrison, the gentleman selected by our school board to teach our advanced school, opened up the same on last Monday morning. Judging from the gentleman's conversational talent he will have a good school.

Mrs. James P. Coburn and Mrs. Eva Rodgers are visiting relatives and friends in Norristown and Philada. Mrs. James Huston, with her daughters Lizzie & Jennie will take charge of the household affairs during the absence of the visiting ladies.

We lately noticed that Miss Jennie Schreffler left Jas. P. Coburn's. Mr. Coburn had give Jennie a home for the last 17 years. Sorry to see Jennie has left us and hope she may return soon again. Jennie has made her home with D. A. Musser, at Millheim.

As the editor of the Journal was a regular attendant at the dedication services of the new Reformed Church during the close of last week and Sabbath following, we look to him to furnish the readers of the Journal a full report of its exercises. ANOTHER.

Miss Ida Ocker went to Clearfield last week and expects to be absent all winter.

Mr. Benjamin Roush, we are glad to report, is again able to be about and at his work. He had been confined to the house for over a week with a lame back.

At last the water pipes came and they greatly improve our waterworks. The iron pipes reach from the springs in the gap to opposite A. Guisers, with four hydrants rlong the line.

The farmers are busy husking corn and making cider.

Mr. Noah Bierly, of New York, a brother of our towns man, Joseph Bierly, spent a few days with his friends in this place.

At this writing Mr. S. B. Stover is on a fair way of recovery from his recent attack of rheumatism.

B. W. Shafer has been nursing a sore hand for the last two weeks. The report however, of his having lockjaw, is incorrect.

The public school opened on Monday with Prof. S. Bierly, as teacher of the grammar school and Mr. Helfrich, teacher of the primary school. STILL.

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure,

QUAKER
Is the Best
TABLE SAUCE.

Thousands of articles are now manufactured that in former years had to be imported, paying high import duty as it is now being done on Lea & Perrins table sauce; the QUAKER TABLE SAUCE takes its place; it has been pronounced by competent judges just as good and even better. The QUAKER SAUCE has Slowly but surely gained great importance and is replacing the very best imported sauce on the shelf of the grocer, the tables of the restaurant and the tables of the rich and poor men, greatly prized and relished by all on account of its piquancy, aroma, taste, strength and pureness. The inventor has by years of study of the secret virtues contained in the aromatic spices of the Indies and China, such as mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, genuine Jamaica ginger, and peppers and buds of trees unknown to most men, and by long practice succeeded to combine their extracts in such a liquid form as we now find it, of agreeable taste, and so invigorating as to be taken in place of stomach bitters. By manufacturing this sauce here, heavy import duties and freights are saved, and it is sold at a lower figure to the dealer; who making a better profit on Quaker Sauce can sell it to the consumer cheaper than the very best imported article hardly equaling ours. If your grocer does not keep it, write us for prices, etc. Sold in bottles or by the gallon.

A Dog that Und erstands.

There is a Newfoundland dog of the historian's acquaintance, Lion by name, who gives daily proof of his comprehension of what is said to him. A lady called on his mistress the other day. During her call Lion came in rather slyly, lay down on the parlor carpet, and went to sleep. The conversation ran on, and the visitor said finally:

'What a handsome Newfoundland you have.'

Lion opened one eye. 'Yes,' said his mistress, 'he is a very good dog, and takes excellent care of the children.'

Lion opened the other eye and waved his tail complacently to and fro along the carpet.

'When the baby goes out he always goes with her, and I feel perfectly sure then that no harm can come to her,' his mistress went on.

Lion's tail thumped up and down violently on the carpet.

'And he is so gentle to them all, and such a playmate and companion to them, that we would not take a thousand dollars for him.'

Lion's tail now went up and down, to and fro, and round and round with great and undisguised glee.

'But,' said his mistress, 'Lion has one serious fault.'

Total subsidence of Lion's tail, together with the appearance of an expression of great concern on his face.

'He will come in here with his dirty feet and lie down on the carpet, when I have told him time and again that he musn't do it.'

Here Lion arose with an air of the utmost dejection and humiliation and slunk out of the room, with his lately exuberant tail totally crestfallen.—Boston Record.

ADVICE TO MTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken o your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant ao the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The Modern Hired Man.

'Yes,' I came in after a hired man,' said the old farmer as he sipped his root beer on the market yesterday; 'but I've got disgusted and shan't try very hard to find one.'

'What's the matter with hired men?'

'Too high-tored and important. Why, I tell you, I had one last spring who rigged up an umbrella over the plow, so as not to get tanned, and he refused to eat with the family because we stuck our knives in our mouths! At the end of the week he quit. Said that the labor was ennobling and so forth, but that the landscape in that vicinity offended his taste.'

'Yes.'

'Well, I took on another, and he put on cuffs and polished his boots before going to work, and he quit at the end of a fortnight, because we didn't have a pianner in the house. Why, the chap never got up till 7 o'clock, and he insisted on going to the village to get shaved and perfumed up every other evening.'

'The third one quit me yesterday. He wanted stained glass in his bed room window. He wanted me to buy him a guitar. He wanted to paint all the roofs red and put a pea green on the corn cribs. He suggested a hog pen with a parlor to it, and he spent two days of my time trying to arrange a way for a windmill to milk the cows. I found him writing poetry in the cornfield, and because I spoke up sharply, he quit the job, polished up his boots and sent for a coupay to bring him to the city.'

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA

This old and well-tried Remedy has proven its value in all diseases from Impure or Impoverished Blood, as Scrofula, Rheumatism, Ulcerous Sores, White Swellings, Syphilitic Nodes, Bone Diseases, etc. Invaluable in General Debility and diseases of debility of the aged. A rich syrup, containing no injurious ingredients. No other Remedy has received such encomiums. Sold by all Druggists.

DEAFNESS and how I cure it, by one who was for 28 years. A successful home treatment. Address T. S. PAGE, No. 128 East 26th St. New York. 23-4t

From Pole to Pole

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has demonstrated its power of cure for all diseases of the blood.

The Harpooner's Story.

New Bedford, June 1, 1883.

DR. J. C. AYER & Co.—Twenty years ago I was a harpooner in the North Pacific, when five others of the crew and myself were laid up with scurvy. Our bodies were bloated, gums swollen and bleeding, teeth loose, purple blotches all over us, and our breath seemed rotten. Take it by and large we were pretty badly off. All our lime-juice was accidentally destroyed, but the captain had a couple dozen bottles of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA and gave us that. We recovered on it quicker than I have ever seen men brought about by any other treatment for scurvy, and I've seen a good deal of it. Seeing no mention in your Almanac of your Sarsaparilla being good for scurvy, I thought you ought to know of this, and so send you the facts.

Respectfully yours, RALPH Y. WINGATE.

The Trooper's Experience.

Masven, Basutoland (S. Africa,) March 7, 1883.

DR. J. C. AYER & Co.—Gentlemen: I have much pleasure to testify to the great value of your Sarsaparilla. We have been stationed here for over two years, during which time we had to live in tents. Being under canvas for such a time brought on what is called in this country "veldt-sores." I had those sores for some time. I was advised to take your Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which made my sores disappear rapidly, and I am now quite well.

Yours truly, T. K. BODEN,
Trooper, Cape Mounted Riflemen.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only thoroughly effective blood-purifier, the only medicine that eradicates the poisons of Scrofula, Mercury, and Contagious Disease from the system.
